COUNTRY LIBRARY SERVICES AVAILABLE

Starting a new year of academic learning can post many questions for students. For instance, you might want to know what activities there are available in the city. Are there any projects you can do to further your education such as volunteering in an agency or service, or doing private tutoring. Where are some interesting places to go? If you need help with loans, who can provide it?

Often when you are new in a community you may not know where to find the answers. It may be as easy as using the telephone. The Wicomico County Free Library, located at 122 South Division Salisbury, has an Information and Referral Service ready to come to your aid. There is on file a wealth of community information and the professional staff at the library will be most willing to help you. Don't wander aimlessly in the dark – give us a call at 749-5171 or come to see us. We'd like to give you a proper welcome to our community.

HEALTH CENTER NEWS

Influenza vaccine is now available in the Health Center to the faculty, staff and students. The cost to faculty and staff is 50 cents. Students receive the medication free. Our County Health Department recommends a 2-week interval if you are planning to also receive the New Jersey (swine) Influenza shot.

New Jersey (swine) Influenza vaccine information will be available when our County Clinics are set up. This will be approximately mid-October, and we will keep you informed.

Free medical literature on a variety of subjects is always available in the Health Center waiting room. Please take advantage of this opportuntiy to learn more about yourself and how to remain healthy.

Because of the high incidence of tuberculosis on the Eastern Shore it has been recommended by the County Health Department that tuberculin testing be done at least every other year. The SSC Health Center offers TB Tine skin tests at no cost to all faculty and staff. We strongly recommend that everyone have this test done yearly. If you are unable to take this simple tuberculosis test, the nurses will be happy to schedule an X-ray for you. (cont. on next page)

If you are insured with the SSC health insurance plan and medical you need reimbursement for a medical expense, be sure to submit the proper claim form, completly filled out and signed. This will expedite payment and needless confusion. Should you need assistance, the Health Center secretary is available to help you.

We have had many inquiries in the past regarding blood donations. For information concerning this procedure please contact Ms. Angela Parks in Room 151, Holloway Hall or telephone ext. 239.

This year we are pleased to introduce Dr. Robert Adkins, who will be assisting our College Physician, Dr. Louis H. Himes, II, on a regular one-day-per-week basis. Any student who has a medical problem may arrange an appointment to see the doctor through the Health Center nurses.

BYRD TO COME BACK TO SSC FOR APPEARANCE

Popular guitarist Charlie Byrd, who covers the spectrum from jazz to classical music, comes back to SSC this week. Byrd, who by popular demand returns for the third time, will present a program of music at Holloway Hall, Tuesday, September 21, at 8 pm. Tickets are free to students and may be picked up at the College Center Office in Chester Hall.

In the past decade, Charlie Byrd has emerged on the international music scene as a guitar giant. Although the guitar has bridged the world of classical and popular music throughout its long history, one seldom finds a guitarist who works with equal ease in the idioms of both classical music and jazz. Willis Conover of the Voice of America has said: "Charlie Byrd's versatility in the literature of the guitar surpasses that of anyone else. He is a masterful jack of all guitar trades."

Byrd perfroms classical recitals and concerts and in recent years has performed with the National Symphony, the Baltimore Symphony, the Minneapolis Symphony and the Feldman String Quartet. He has produced three albums of classical music.

A great honor was bestowed upon Charlie Byrd in April 1972 when he was invited to perform a concert with the Boston Symphony Orchestra with Arthur Fiedler conducting.

Mr. Byrd has done 1000 or more college concerts and is currently touring the U.S. college scene with a very successful trio, performing a mixed program of classical, jazz and the music of today.

PROFILE '76

Eastman Kodak Company – long noted for perfection in photography – will send a 90 minute spectacular to SSC's Holloway Hall Auditorium on Saturday, October 16th. There will be two shows – 2:00 pm and 8:00 pm.

Sponsored jointly by SSC and WBOC, the gala show will feature wide-screen panorama; movies, complimented by multi-images; and mosaic multi-image patterns.

The show, now on a nationwide tour, was produced by Kodak in cooperation with American Airlines and special research assistance from the National Geographic Society.

Entitled "Profile '76," a multi-media Bicentennial show, it features the work of 12 Eastman Kodak photographers who traveled more than 50,000 miles to 27 states to illustrate the show.

It is a sight and sound celebration of life in the United States and an innovative means of rediscovering America on film. Wide-screen panoramas melt into multi-image montages and action packed movies.

How does the United States look from an isolated island, a tent circus, the mountains of Tennessee? What's it like to be a handicapped child in Harlem or a 93 year old short-stop on an unretiring baseball team? "Profile '76" is a potpourri of people and their very special points of view.

Tickets for either show are free and may be picked up at the College Center Office in Chester Hall (off Camden Avenue).

NEW HOURS FOR THE WRITING CENTER

Beginning this semester, the Writing Center, located in 340 Holloway Hall, will be open four evenings a week in addition to its regular daily schedule. The full schedule for the Writing Center
Monday - Thursday — 8:30 am - 5:00 pm and 6:00 pm - 9:00 pm
Friday — 8:30 am - 4:00 pm

During these hours a member of the staff will work individually with you to answer specific questions about writing or to design an entire program to meet your particular needs. If you want to review one or all of the basic skills (grammar, punctuation, spelling, and vocabulary), for example, the staff will work with you in tutorial conferences: or, if you prefer, you can review the skills independently and at your own pace using any of the audio-visual and printed materials that are available in the Writing Center.

Most importantly, the staff is prepared to help answer your questions about: writing essay exams — selecting a topic for a paper — discovering ways of presenting an idea. that you already have — researching and documenting a research paper — organizing your thoughts effectively — using the tone and the style that will persuade your reader — writing an introduction, a conclusion, or anything in between

So, come to the Writing Center if you think you could do better in your courses if you had some systematic, individualized instruction and advice about your writing.

Come to the Center if you want help with out-of-class writing — letters of application, letters to the editor, send-me-money letters, etc.

In short, come if you have ANY questions about writing, and let one of the members of the staff help you find an answer.

FOOTBALL TEAM TO GO TO COCO BOWL

You've probably heard that Salisbury State's football team has been invited to play in the Coco Bowl in Puerto Rico on Friday night, Nov. 26. The team will be able to make the trip over the Thanksgiving vacation.

It certainly is one of the most prestigious events the college has undertaken and a "feather in the cap" for the state of Maryland and the Delaware Peninsula. The cost commitment at this end will be for one-half of the air transportation and the Sea Gull Club has voted to sponsor the trip.

In order to raise the money necessary for the trip, the Sea Gull Club will sponsor a Benefit Bull Roast on campus from 4 to 7 pm on October 23. Naturally, the club will need all the assistance possible to make this commitment. Tickets may be purchased in the College Center Office or the Public Relations Office at $7.50 per person.

Plans are to make the trip, not only a sporty event, but also to provide members of the team an opportunity for cultural benefit.

Drs. John Knowles and Butler are scheduling a lecture for members of the team on Puerto Rico culture and customs during the four-day stay.

Don't forget, help make this trip possible by attending the bull roast. You'll enjoy the dinner — beef, potato, vegetable, salad, etc.

LECTURE: MATHEMATICAL BREAKTHROUGH

A nationally-publicized mathematician, who only several weeks ago caused his associates around the world to take notice of a discovery, will be coming to Salisbury State on Thursday, October 28, for a special lecture.

Wolfgang Haken, who helped to solve a 125-year old problem which has baffled cartographers, will address an Eastern Shore audience in Devilbiss Science Hall at 3 pm ("The Four Color Problem") and 4 pm ("Every Planar Map Is Four Colorable").

Haken, with Kenneth Appel, who is an associate at University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, have proven in our Bicentennial year that no more than four colors are needed to shade any map so that no two adjoining countries are the same color.

Many efforts have been made over the past century, but no one has been able to accomplish it until the Haken-Appel breakthrough.

Even more significant, the success may mean more in the future for other such problems.

Theorists around the country have been wary of using computers rather than simple blackboard equations to seek mathematical truths.

In saluting the accomplishment, TIME Magazine said in a special report that Haken and Appel "may well have ushered in a new era of computer computation on the frontiers of higher mathematics."

Scientific American pointed out that Haken and Appel "involved a few Theorems and examined some 10 billion individual cases. Without the computers, proof would have been impossible," the article concluded.

Everyone if invited to attend in Devilbiss Science Hall, Room 226.

EXHIBITION OF PHOTOS

An exhibition of 16 photographic panels, illustrating a vivid impression of life in Annapolis a century ago, will be on view at Blackwell Library Gallery from November 30 to December 29.

The current exhibition, which is being circulated throughout Maryland by The Baltimore Museum of Art, is made possible through grants from the Equitable Trust Bank, the Maryland Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts, Washington, D.C.

Themes such as transportation, architecture and city planning, people, and great mansions are intriguingly explored through the visual records left by the professional and gifted amateur photographers who made the original negatives and prints reproduced here.

Mr. Marion E. Warren of Annapolis and his daugher Mary Elizabeth Warren accumulated and researched these vintage photographic images which first appeared in their book The Train's Been Done and Gone, published by David Godine in 1976.

Although many of the early photographers remain anonymous, the Warrens were able to identify Henry Schaefer, a German-born photographer who maintained a studio on Main Street in Annapolis from 1888 until his death in 1895. Schaefer is represented in the exhibition by a handsome self-portrait.

"An Annapolis Portrait 1859-1910" is a pictorial narrative, not only of a city, but also of an era, stretching from the date of the earliest known photograph (1859) to the arrival of the automobile (1910).

Ms. Mildred Blum representative of The Baltimore Museum of At, will give a talk about the exhibition on Dec. 1 at 1 pm in Blackwell Library.

HOLLY CENTER COMPANIONSHIP PROGRAM

The Holly Center Companionship Program has several very important positions it needs filled. We need volunteers who would be willing to provide companionship to high level residents of Holly Center.

These residents are mentally retarded persons who, it is strongly felt, can eventually live in the community in an independent manner.

Volunteers (companions) would provide various experiences for the retarded person to whom the volunteer would be assigned. For example, taking the retarded person to dinner, to the movies, shopping, to the zoo, and to group activities – so that the mentally retarded person would learn to be comfortable in these everyday situations.

A moderate sum of money would be available each month to defray the volunteer's expenses (gasoline, food, theatre tickets, etc.).

The volunteer for companionship should be a person who in energetic and compassionate to the needs of the mentally retarded person. A serious committment to being a companion should be made. The possibility of a team approach would be seriously entertained. Should you and a friend feel you both might like to volunteer as a team rather than as individuals, please let us know.

If you are seriously interested in being a volunteer/companion to a retarded person, call Mrs. Pat van Breeman at Holly Center (546-2181, ext. 203). Further information may be procured both from Dr. Delaney and Dr. Graff of the SSC faculty.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN COMING

The National Theatre Company will present Charlie Chaplin and Co., a musical and mime on the famed entertainer Wednesday, February 2, at 8 pm in Holloway Hall Auditorium. Tickets are available at the College Center Office.

For six decades audiences have enjoyed the genius of Charlie Chaplin on the screen through his many performances and films; but never before has Charles Spencer Chaplin, the man, or his life behind the cameras been portrayed on the stage.

As the curtain rises Chaplin has just opened "City Lights." His producers and co-workers were sure this last of Chaplin's silents would never sell in the new age of "talkies." But Charlie insisted and "City Lights" was indeed a hit. The screening room empties out, and we are left with Chaplin and his memories. We follow the movie in his mind as Chaplin relives his troubled beginnings and future successes.

You'll share the suspense as Charlie gives birth to "The Little Tramp," who is to become his life long partner. In a tender song called "Happy/Sad," Charlie and his Tramp find that special ingredient responsible for the huge success of their life together.

The program is sponsored by the English Department and the College Center. Purpose of his visit is to discuss film directing with interested students.

In preparation for Mr. Watkins' appearance, the three-hour biographical film Edvard Munch will be shown Tuesday, February 1, at 7 pm in Holloway Hall Auditorium.

The film was originally made for television in Norway in 1974-75. After its Scandinavian premiere, the Swedish director Ingmar Bergman reputedly called the Munch film "a work of genius." Critical reception was also good in Britain (where it played on television), and its theatrical release in New York City (September, 1976) also impressed most of the American critics who saw it.

The film is significant for its human content and for its understanding of the psychic forces which help to make artistic creation possible. Beyond this, it represents an important breakthrough in cinematic narrative, pushing a layered, stream-of-consciousness technique to new boundaries, as it tells the story of the early career of the Norwegian expressionist painter, Edvard Munch.

Got 3 hours?

Due to our expanding programs, GENESIS is experiencing a manpower shortage. Many staff members must now work extra shifts in order to meet needs. For this reason, GENESIS is seeking several new volunteers. We ask just 3 hrs. of your time each week—you choose when it would be most convenient for you to work. If you're looking for a deeper involvement, there are many possibilities. With two major projects in the planning stages and several active committees, we're always willing to accept extra help.

Training, approximately 15 hours, not only gives one insight into others' thoughts and feelings, but most of us have experienced a new self-awareness too. Our next session will be Feb. 12-13.

Working in our phone room, one develops interpersonal communication skills, while gaining practical experience in counseling others. Psychology, sociology, communications, social work. . .whatever your major, your skills can be strengthened and polished while working with GENESIS. All you need is the desire to help others. For more information and applications, see Bernie Murphy in room 151 HH (ext. 237).

STUDENT HEALTH INSURANCE IS AVAILABLE FOR SSC STUDENTS AT A COST OF $24.00.

WHO KILLED J.F.K.?

The past year saw the question "Who killed J.F.K.?" move steadily closer to the top of the national agenda. More extensively in 1976 than ever before, the mass media opened up to the detailed arguments against the lone assassination theory of Dallas. More lectures, conferences, rallies and demonstrations of growing public concern for the question of the J.F.K. and other unsolved assassinations of the sixties took place last year than in all the previous thirteen years since the Dallas shootings.

Thus, there has never been a greater opportunity for pushing this question all the way through and getting at the truth. Groups such as the Assassination Information Bureau have been persistently bringing the issue to a widening audience of concern.

In its presentation, the AIB offers clear photographic and film evidence it believes will convince the open-minded observer that whatever actually did happen at Dealey Plaza on November 22, 1963, Oswald could not have been a lone assassination. The AIB believes that as the issue matures in its new phase and the high-level cover-up rumbles into a new gear, it will be of great importance for citizens everywhere to see and review this historically critical evidence.

MANY THANKS

Sponsors, coordinators and members of GENESIS were pleasantly overwhelmed with the tremendous response to our recent membership drive. Seventeen SSC students reaffirmed our belief that we're all pulling together to help one another on the Salisbury campus. Many thanks are extended to those instructors who spoke about and encouraged students to look into our organization. Special thanks go out to those faculty members who gave, in some cases, better than half of a class period in order that a GENESIS staff member could personally discuss our activities with the class. With the addition of our largest group of volunteers, the GENESIS staff has grown to 32 active members. It is hoped that with this increased manpower that our services will be greatly improved and in some ways expanded. Thanks to all who have helped in any way with our recent activities.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENT ART SHOW

Meeting for those interested in the undergraduate student show. Wednesday Feb. 23 at 8:00 in 121 HH.

COLMAN McCARTHY TO GIVE TALK ON MYSTICISM

Colman McCarthy, editor and columnist for the Washington Post, will talk on mysticism at Salisbury State College's Holloway Hall, Thursday night, Feb. 24 at 8 pm.

Sponsored by the SSC Philosophical Society, the program is open to the public at no charge.

McCarthy, after graduation from Spring Hill College in Alabama, spent six years in a Trappist Monastery. He is a well-known lecturer and author of two books, Inner Companions and Disturbers of the Peace: Profiles in Non-Adjustment.

Commenting on Mr. McCarthy's profound investigation into the human experience, Robert Coles, himself a renowned sociologist, and author of the introduction of Mr. McCarthy's second book, describes this "gifted and sensitive" writer's style as "clarifying, both morally instructive and factually sound."

This form of investigation developed by Mr. McCarthy "is original, moving, and almost applicable to our own daily life." And, also, according to writer Michael Novak, Mr. McCarthy is among the small number of "geographers of the inner life in American Journalism."

With Inner Companions, Colman McCarthy has written fifty-three essays on poets, philosophers, artists, saints, dissenters, and others who can't be classified. Some are well-known, like Carl Jung, Sean O'Casey, St. Teresa, or Emma Goldman.

Mr. McCarthy's editorials for the Washington Post are widely known as profiles of people who have refused to adjust to standards they believe are wrong. Mr. McCarthy feels that these people share "an awareness of the importance of the small encroachments on our liberties, and a quiet determination to resist with all their strength."

NEW WRITING CENTER HOURS

The Writing Center, located in 340 Holloway Hall, will be open four evenings a week in addition to its regular daily schedule. The full schedule for the Writing Center is:

Monday—Thursday
8:30 a.m.—5:00 p.m.
6:00 p.m.—9:00 p.m.

Friday
8:30 a.m.—4:00 p.m.

During these hours a member of the staff will work individually with you to answer specific questions about writing or to design an entire program to meet your particular needs. If you want to review one or all of the basic skills (grammar, punctuation, spelling, and vocabulary), for example, the staff will work with you in tutorial conferences; or, if you prefer, you can review the skills independently and at your own pace using any of the audio-visual and printed materials that are available in the Writing Center.

Most importantly, the staff is prepared to help answer your questions about:

—writing essay exams
—selecting a topic for a paper
—discovering ways of presenting an idea that you already have —researching and documenting a research paper
—organizing your thoughts effectively
—using the tone and the style that will persuade your reader
—writing an introduction, a conclusion, or anything in between

So, come to the Writing Center if you think you could do better in your courses if you had some systematic, individualized instruction and advice about your writing.

Come to the Center if you want help with out-of-class writing—letters of application, letters to the editor, send-me-money letters, etc.

In short, come if you have ANY question about writing, and let one of the members of the staff help you find an answer.

SSC JAZZ ENSEMBLE

The Salisbury State College Jazz Ensemble, a twenty-one member organization which is one of the five performance groups representing the Music Department at the local campus, will present an hour of jazz on a concert program in the Holloway Hall Auditorium on Thursday, March 31, 1977 at 8:00 p.m.

The select organization includes students from the state of Maryland as well as several members representing Delaware, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Florida. They have been rehearsing diligently this semester in an effort to continue the exposure and presentation of this particular style of music to the listening audience of the Eastern Shore.

The essence of jazz is constantly fluctuating as a direct result of the individuality of the composer and performer, but is equally influenced by the changing times both musically and socially. The concert on the 31st will provide a representative cross section of these influential trends in the field of jazz. The unique styling of Glenn Miller will be evident with an arrangement of "In the Mood;" the ballad talents of the Beatles in "Here, There, and Everywhere;" the latin samba influence with a contemporary work entitled "Tambo;" a beautiful Carpenter's tune, "Let Me Be the One;" a screeching trumpet arrangement of Maynard Ferguson's "Chameleon;" and a "Current Events" type of jazz styling complete with pre-recorded tape and synthesizer.

FIGURATIVE ART EXHIBITION

An exhibition of figurative art from New Guinea opened at Salisbury State College March 14 and continues through April 4. It may be seen in the Blackwell Library Gallery free-of-charge. Organized by Dr. Glenn A. Long, curator-in-charge of Oceanic and Pre-Columbian collections at The Baltimore Museum of Art, the exhibition is made possible through grants from the Maryland Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts. The exhibition focuses on human imagery in art works from various New Guinea peoples.

Stylized heads and entire figures are represented on mortars, masks, canoe ornaments and ceremonial boards. The language of these forms characterizes a people and their surroundings. This selection reveals formal differences in the treatment of human forms by contrasting works from regions such as the Sepik River Area, the major inland waterway of the north, and the Papuan Gulf Area, a prominent feature of New Guinea's south coast. Interpretive panels accompany the works to emphasize comparative stylistic features.

The works in the exhibition were drawn from the Luther Emory Allen Collection, the Hecht Company Collection and the Alan Wurtzburger Collection at The Baltimore Museum of Art. "Oceanic Images: Figurative Art of New Guinea" was organized and is being circulated throughout the State of Maryland.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE SET

A unique national conference—first of its kind held in the Middle Atlantic Region—on Sport, Human Values and Education is scheduled for the college - April 21-23.

Dr. Nelson Butler, Chairman of the Department of Physical Education and Health, who is chairman of the conference, says that sports has become a cultural phenomenon in modern society. "It permeates education, economics, art, politics, law, mass communication and international diplomacy," he said.

"Its social significance touches nearly everyone in our socity, and it will be the objective of our conference to study this phenomenon," he added.

The conference will be national and international in scope and will include Dr. Bruce Ogilvie of San Jose State University, California; Dr. Joffre Dumazedier University of Paris; Dr. Earle Zeigler, University of Western Ontario, Canada; and Dr. Robert Singer, Florida State University, Tallahassee, Florida.

A number of controversial problems centering on sports today will be in for discussion at the conference. Included will be scholarships and will focus on the question, "Should college athletes be paid?" Others will spotlight on the real purpose of sports and whether students learn competition, which is the backbone for free competitive society. The implications of Title IX will also come into discussion at the conference, according to Dr. Butler. For example, equal funding, space and other programmatic concerns of women in sports.

Dr. Max Kaplan, Director of Leisure Studies Program at University of South Florida, Tampa, and Visiting Distinguished Professor at SSC this semester will deliver the address, "Honors: Passport to the Future."

Classes will be cancelled from 11 a.m.-12 Noon. We urge everyone to take advantage of this opportunity to hear Dr. Kaplan's address and the recognition of those students who have distinguished themselves in various ways this academic year.

This year for the first time there will be awards given by the SGA to two faculty members judged by that organization to be outstanding teachers at SSC.

A 'FIRST' FOR SSC

Something new has been added to the Eastern Shore entertainment scene!

For the first time, Delmarva will have an opportunity to see college synchronized swimming, a most popular activity in many areas of the country.

Salisbury State College, with the opening of its new Physical Activities Center and the start of a student synchronized swimming class, will "stage" a synchronized swimming show this week.

Combining beautiful styles of swimming, water ballet, and musical renditions in a color setting, the show will provide exciting viewing.

Jill Coffin, newly appointed swimming director at the college, announces the following dates and times for the show: Wednesday, April 20, 8 PM; Thursday, April 21, 9 PM; and Saturday, April 23, 8 PM. There is no admission charge.

Twenty student swimmers will take part in the show. The program features: opening extravaganza, "Be True to Your School", "Wind and Water", "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head", "Hen House Plus Five", and "Where Are You Going To".

Also featured will be a springboard diving exhibition.

OPPORTUNITIES ABROAD

Short term teaching awards for courses or seminars on issues of current social concern. Six weeks to four months beginning between September 1977 and September 1978 – Algeria, Egypt, Jordan, Morocco, Syria, Tunisia, Afghanistan, India, Iran, Israel, and Pakistan. Application is June 1, 1977. For further information contact Dr. B.A. Fusaro, DH 219, Ext. 364.

PERCEPTIONS OF SUCCESS AND FAILURE

Dr. Robert Menapace will present his research on "Attributions of success and failure in retardates and college students," Friday at 4:20 in Holloway Hall.

Dr. Menapace is Director of Research at Horizon House, a center-city Philadelphia institution serving people who have had problems functioning in this complex world. Dr. Menapace has studied the tendency of both retardates and college students to attribute the responsibility for failure and success to themselves or to environmental influences. Please join the Psychology Department for this interesting topic.

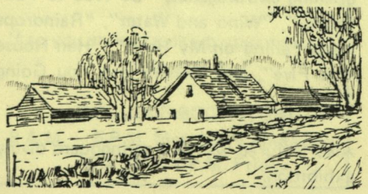
MINI–MESTER TO START

The college will offer eleven courses in its Spring Mini-Mester program which begins Monday, May 9th and ends Friday, May 27th, unless otherwise noted. The courses range from one to three credits.

The Mini-Mester provides a framework similar to that of the regular semester, but emphasizes intensified study of single topics and encourages flexibility and experimentation with the learning process, with the hope that successful experiences will affect both teacher and student behavior in subsequent regular terms. Many of the ideas and innovations which are tried out for the first time in a Mini-Mester may find their way into the regular college curriculum. Classes vary in size and are in general smaller than during regular semesters.

Under the intensified study program a registrant may complete the following courses in the three week period: Life Guarding, Swim and Stay Safe, Individualized P.E. in the Schools, Taoism and Technocracy, Sports Foundation, Leisure and the Elderly, Outdoor Leisure Resources on Delmarva, Money Management, How to use UNIVAC 1106 Computer System, Bowling Clinic, and Sports Medicine Seminar.

Bulletins and registration forms are available in the Office of Continuing Education, Room 23, Caruthers Hall.



BAND CONCERT

Salisbury State College's Concert Band will present its spring program on the stage of Holloway Hall Auditorium on Sunday afternoon, April 24, at 4 p.m.

Sponsored by the Music Department of SSC, this is the sixth spring concert offered by this group since its inception in 1971. The membership is strongly representative of the Delmarva Peninsula with seventy-one percent of the organization being from Maryland's Eastern Shore and Delaware. Twenty-nine percent of the band represents the Western Shore of Maryland and other states.

The afternoon's program will include a diverse selection of music written specifically for band as well as several orchestral transcriptions. The band begins with "Jubiloso", a contemporary composition which won the 1975 Ostwald Award as the outstanding band composition of that year. For contrast, it performs Handel's "Royal Fireworks Music", a work originally written for wind instruments, then scored for orchestra, and again rescored for the modern concert band.

Also featured will be John Phillip Sousa's "Black Horse Troop March", a number descriptive of Troop A, Cleveland, Ohio National Guard Cavalry of 1925. The second half of the program will feature Gustov Holst's famous "First Suite in E Flat for Military Band", a 1909 composition in the traditional British band style of that time.

The music of Broadway has been added to the program. Warren Barker, a noted composer/arranger for films has chosen six for his compilation, "Broadway Show-Stoppers Overture." The band closes the Sunday program with an exciting march by Charles Belsterling, "March of the Steel Men."

COMBINED CONCERT

The four performing organizations of the Salisbury State College Music Department–College Chorus, Chamber Choir, Concert Band and Jazz Ensemble–will present a supper hour "Pops"Concert on the steps of the Ruth Powell Dining Hall April 27 at 6 p.m. Each group will perform fifteen minutes of music in the popular vein.

This event has been scheduled outdoors in previous years, but the elements have always forced cancellation or an alternate site. This year's program will move into the multi-purpose gym of the Benn Maggs Physical Activities Center in case of rain or adverse weather conditions.

The program has been scheduled for the supper hour in hope that the college community and general public may bring the family with a picnic supper and enjoy a semester-ending evening of delightful music. Likewise the college dining hall will provide a picnic supper that evening for the convenience of the students.

DEDICATION TO BE HELD

Dedication of the new Benn Maggs Physical Activities Center at Salisbury State College will be held Sunday, April 24, at 2 p.m.

Dr. Norman C. Crawford, Jr., will head up the program, while Mrs. Benn Maggs will direct a portrait unveiling during the ceremony. Faculty members of the Physical Education Department will take part in an Open House.

Benn Maggs joined the faculty of the "State Teachers' College" at Salisbury in 1933 when the school was only eight years old. He had previously received his Bachelor of Science degree from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College in Pennsylvania and his Masters degree from New York University.

Mr. Maggs was the first male member of the Physical Education Department when he began as a Physical Educator and Athletics Coach. He started teaching the first eight male students to be admitted to the college, and during the period from 1930 until 1962 every male student was enrolled in Mr. Maggs' physical education classes. His responsibilities included men's athletics, intramurals and sports club activities.

A talented musician as well as an athlete, Mr. Maggs was also the first instrumental music instructor at the college and organized the first civic orchestra in Salisbury.

His first intercollegiate coaching sport was soccer, which he coached from 1934 until 1976 (except during World War II). And during his career he also coached gymnastics, basketball and baseball. He was instrumental in organizing track, intramural softball, tennis, volleyball, boxing, fencing and weight lifting.

As the college developed and grew in size, Mr. Maggs became chairman of the men's Physical Education Department, and he held this position until 1970 when he elected to devote full time to teaching and coaching.

When Tawes Gymnasium came into being in 1962, Mr. Maggs helped with its layout and development, just as he helped with plans for this new Physical Activities Center which now carries his name.

Benn Maggs retired in 1976. He and his wife, Mary, reside at 422 Dogwood Drive.
